

Whole target-plus-donor connected components are assigned before any held-out metric

Component-level allocation prevents a target or any of its donor physical sites from crossing the calibration/evaluation boundary.